Copy Cells in Tables with a Macro
WordPerfect Magazine
Q & A

Q: I've been using WordPerfect 5.1 for about seven months and use the Tables feature often. How can I copy the contents (text, not a math formula) of one cell into multiple cells below it? --Randi Gunn, Hopewell, VA

A: Your request can be done easily with a macro. The included COPYCELL.WPM macro prompts you for the number of cells to copy down. Then it blocks and copies the contents of the cells down the column.

To use COPYCELL.WPM, place the cursor in the cell to be copied. Then, press Macro (Alt-F10), type "copycell," press (Enter), then answer the appropriate prompt.
